

Care Network

Map the humans, other living things, and non-living entities that help you survive, grow, or flourish, and those you care for. Let care be understood broadly: emotional, physical, ecological or practical. Start from yourself and move outward; who and what makes your flourishing possible? You can write their names or the initials below the circles. You can draw the care connections between others as well, like the example below.

